

Canterbury Center @ ODU

Most mainline churches maintain a get-a-way house on campuses for their students for meetings, study, piano, TV watching, etc. At Old Dominion University, the Canterbury Center, with Chaplain David LaSalle at the helm, provides the Eucharist at 12:00 and lunch at 12:30.

Our church has supported a Thursday noon lunch as part of the Canterbury Center's presence on ODU's campus for over 19 years and our All Saints' banner (made by Shirley King) hangs in the main hall.

On Thursday, February 11th, Maria, Susan, Ian, and Larry cooked and brought lunch consisting of sandwiches and soup, chips, desert and drinks. Everything tasted fine, and we can't reveal the number of bowls of clam chowder that the Chaplain finished.

There was a recent article in the Beacon about one of the lost boys of Sudan who was terrorized in Sudan. Dut Daniel Akech attended ODU and graduated last year. He was present Thursday for the service with his wife and little son.

If you want to help out next year, please let the office know. The timing usually runs from 10:30 to 2:30.
